

The Royal Town Planning Institute map out their next scheme

With over 25,000 members worldwide and more than 100 years of history, The Royal Town Planning Institute (RTPI) is the principal body representing planning professionals in the United Kingdom and Ireland.

They are a leading membership organisation and a Chartered Institute responsible for maintaining professional standards and accrediting world class planning courses nationally and internationally.

They also promote and develop policy affecting planning and the built environment.

Setting realistic expectations and timescales

RTPI started the process to replace their legacy CRM system. They underwent a vendor selection and appointed a supplier. However, unfortunately the project didn't go as expected and quickly came to a halt.

Rapid rescue and re-launch

RTPI then approached smartimpact in a second attempt.

smartimpact's "Rescue and Relaunch" service has been honed through years of experience in the membership sector.

When smartimpact engaged with RTPI, it was evident that RTPI's project team was under too much pressure to deliver against unreasonable levels of expectation, so they proactively began to build trust and a very close working relationship with the RTPI team.

The next step was to carefully build trust with users and re-set user expectations, as well as reappraise senior management around the benefits of what the system could deliver and realistic timescales for delivery.

With 90+ users, smartimpact offered guidance and education to support the RPTI project team.

Supporting the RTPI team through planning, guidance and education

“ We received a lot of guidance, reassurance and steering all through the project from, smartimpact's project team. They consistently went above and beyond the call of duty. ”

Roadmap to success

At the beginning, RTPI didn't really have an active Exec Sponsor to head up the project and so they needed a lot of advice at many levels. smartimpact was engaged to be a strategic advisor as well as the technology provider.

RTPI also required strong project management skills and business process improvements.

"We engaged with smartimpact because of their proven track record in collaborative engagement and guidance. Their "Rescue and Relaunch" service is first class - they clearly communicated the best plan and delivered it with minimum fuss."

Solid platform for future growth

And finally... planning the way ahead

The overall project necessarily took longer than they had originally envisaged, but with a lot of education, help, care and guidance, plus us challenging their preconceived processes and notions, RTPI now has a great platform upon which to grow.
